Every day your company shares a wealth of data with customers, suppliers and business partners and e-mail sits at the heart of these communications.

However, e-mail is not suitable for the large files we so often share, and it lacks security.

So what happens when your data is confidential or large?

Cryptshare makes e-mail better

Cryptshare makes it easy for your staff to send encrypted e-mail messages and attachments of any size at any time to internal and external recipients directly from your existing e-mail system. There are no special software requirements for the recipients, no user accounts, no certificate exchange or licences. Cryptshare makes it easy to communicate in complete privacy with everyone you need to, instantly, and at any time. Cryptshare makes your e-mail suitable for the challenges of a modern business and will be adopted easily and quickly by your users.

Fast and easy integration

Cryptshare offers several deployment options. Your server can be in-house, hosted or in the cloud - whatever suits you best. In daily operation it requires very little time and all e-mail users in your domains have access unless you decide to exclude them by policy. There is fast and easy integration into your e-mail system available - no matter whether you use Microsoft Outlook or IBM Notes.

Your company, your rules

Cryptshare can be made available to your team very quickly and the powerful policy engine allows you to tailor the system according to your needs. From the central admin interface there are numerous options to implement your own rules, such as password options, maximum retention time, and many more.

Create corporate policies and rules easily and implement them at individual level:

You will certainly want to let your communication partners know that you are taking greater care of shared information. For this the user interface can be fully customised to your company brand and notifications can be added.

Customise the user interface with your brand identity:

E-mail made better.

Cryptshare is flexible with fast and easy integration to MS Outlook and IBM Notes or through open interfaces to a variety of applications and business processes. Cryptshare is used widely in many industries from government to insurance, engineering to professional services, in schools and hospitals from the entire enterprise to a single department. Whatever your needs, and no matter how many users Cryptshare can help you. Try Cryptshare today!
